 - You can translate complex B2B topics—such as IoT, platforms or sensor technology—into clear, well-structured and audience-focused content?
 - You write in a clear, concise, and engaging way, with a strong sense for readability, semantic quality and content that resonates with both human readers and AI models?
 - You think in terms of customer journeys and consistently align content with target audiences and their specific use cases?
 - You confidently leverage AI tools to enhance both the productivity and quality of your content creation process?
